"Our backslidings are many:" "our iniquities testify against us." God and sin cannot dwell together. The people were intent on their misdoings. No wonder God did not stay.

And Jeremiah, deep down in his heart, knows that God is not a so-journer; He is always here. "Yet thou, O Jehovah, art in the midst thou. O Jehovah, art in the midst of us, and we are called by Thy name; leave us not." That is the brighter side of the story. God does not really come and go. It is our devotion to Him and appreciation of the value of His presence that comes and goes. When we forget God He seems to have taken His journey. You have heard of the little girl coming out of church on the last Sunday morning before the vacation trip who waved back saying. "Goodbye, God, we're going away for the summer." Many people feel that way about it. Those who move to other sections of the city or from one city to another often get out of the church-going habit. When they do think of God they think of the little church back home where the way and the submarine. The period of the pastorage has been one of unusual distinction and opportunity as well as of unprecedented burdens and distractions. It has been included in the national administrations of Presidents (Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevett, Taft, Wilson and Harding, It has been an era of the automobile, the submarine, the aeroplane and the
